As of January, 2011, paid preparers are required to file all returns possible by electronic filing.

Not all states accept electronic filing from paid providers without separate registration by the provider for that state. Therefore, it may not be possible to efile in all states. In these cases, a paper state return will be provided. Federal electronic returns are only accepted by the IRS with ALL correct information, including addresses and identification numbers for institutions, and names which match records in Social Security files.
